

Abstract

The present invention relates to a nucleic acid molecule or nucleic acid molecules and also to a method for the rapid and sensitive detection of bacteria of the pathogenic species Listeria monocytogenes. The invention further relates to a test kit or test kits for carrying out the detection methods mentioned.

070301 03101